

DIPLOMACY TRAINING PROGRAM

AFFILIATED WITH THE FACULTY OF LAW AT THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES

A training program for peoples of the Asia-Pacific region

Complaints Policy

Goal:

Through this policy the Diplomacy Training Program aims to:

- Affirm DTP as an organisation that is transparent and accountable
- Establish appropriate mechanisms to encourage feedback about its work from all its stakeholders
- Enable complaints to be registered and responded to appropriately, consistent with DTP's commitments to human rights values and standards and ACFID's Code of Conduct
- Affirm its commitment to respond to complaints about Diplomacy Training Program's conduct in a timely and appropriate manner.

Scope:

This policy is intended to apply to any complaint made about some action or individual for which the Diplomacy Training Program is responsible or is within our sphere of influence. This policy will guide the response of DTP's staff and board in relation to the handling of, and response to, individual complaints.

Appendix 1: Definition of a Complaint

Guiding Principles:

The Diplomacy Training Program is committed to good educational and development practice and to ensuring that its programs and activities, including the actions of its staff and trainers, are consistent with the human rights standards and values it is committed to promoting. The Diplomacy Training Program acknowledges that it has the responsibilities to a wide range of stakeholders – including, but not limited to, its program partners and participants.

DTP works with and brings together people from diverse backgrounds and the content of the training can elicit strong responses. DTP is committed to continuous learning. In this context receiving feedback from and responding to complaints from stakeholders and participants is an important part of improving the Diplomacy Training Program's work and effectiveness.

DTP recognises that accountability to stakeholders is an important principle and this requires that there be open, transparent and accessible avenues for DTP's stakeholders to make a complaint about the conduct of DTP and/or its representatives.

DTP is committed to responding to, and where possible, resolving concerns and complaints in relation to its programs, the impacts of programs and the conduct of staff and volunteers and other representatives of the Diplomacy Training Program.

DTP will establish a formal complaints mechanism to handle complaints and concerns that cannot be resolved informally. This mechanism will enable a formal response either from the Executive Director, or in particular circumstances, from DTP's Board.

Implementation:

DTP will:

- Actively distribute information about this Complaints Policy via its website, and annual report and through distribution to partners and participants in its programs.
- Ensure reasonable flexibility in accepting complaints. Complaints can be communicated in person, via email or telephone or in writing - either directly from the individual or organisation making the complaint or via someone acting on their behalf. Where complaints are made by telephone a written record of the complaint will be agreed.
- Ensure consistency of response and effective management, by directing complainants to the Executive Director, Diplomacy Training Program.

The Executive Director
Diplomacy Training Program
Faculty of Law, University of New South Wales
NSW 2052 Australia
tel: + (61 2) 9385 3549
fax: + (61 2) 9385 1778
email: ntp@unsw.edu.au
website: www.ntp.unsw.edu.au

- Require complaints received by other staff, volunteers or trainers to be communicated as quickly and as accurately as possible to the Executive Director
- Ensure that it has the administrative systems in place to log all complaints received and to record action taken so that these may be reported in an accurate and timely way to the DTP Board.
- A summary of complaints/remedial action will be tabled at board meetings (held quarterly)
- Ensure that the confidentiality of both the complainants and the complaint is maintained, consistent with DTP's Privacy Policy and legal obligations.
- Not respond to complaints made anonymously

- Ensure that complaints are handled on a confidential basis. In some cases it may be necessary to disclose information to third parties. This will be decided on a case-by-case basis and only with the agreement of the complainant.
- Treat everyone who makes a complaint to the Diplomacy Training Program with courtesy and respect.
- Refer complaints relating to the Executive Director to the DTP Board. In such circumstances complaints should be addressed to:

Professor Paul Redmond
 Chair of the Board
 Diplomacy Training Program
 Faculty of Law, University of New South Wales
 NSW 2052 Australia
 tel: + (61 2) 9385 3549
 fax: + (61 2) 9385 1778
 email: p.redmond@unsw.edu.au

- Reserves the right not to consider further, or correspond about, the complaint or any specific points raised in a complaint in circumstances where the complainant is seen to be harassing staff or behaving abusively or unreasonably.

The Executive Director will:

- Acknowledge the complaint either by telephone or writing in a timely way.
- Aim to respond to and resolve complaints within ten working days of receipt. In the event that a complaint cannot be resolved within this timeframe the complainant will be informed, in writing (subject to other, relevant organisational or legal requirements).
- Advise the complainant that they are able to direct complaints to the ACFID Code of Conduct Committee.
- Make an initial assessment of the complaint and, if deemed a minor matter or without merit, respond with a return call, email or letter. If the complaint is of a more serious nature the Executive Director may need to conduct further investigation/action and implement remedial action. The complainant will be advised, and where appropriate, consulted on the actions taken.
- In the event of a complainant being dissatisfied with the response from Diplomacy Training Program to their complaint, provide the complainant with contact details for the DTP Board of Directors. The Board will consider the complaint at the next scheduled Board meeting and inform the complainant about what further action may or may not be taken.
- Request where necessary that complainants not harass staff or behave abusively or unreasonably, and advise the complainant of the possible consequences of such behaviour.

Approval:

The DTP Board of Directors adopted this policy on Complaints

Date of Adoption: 13 August 2012

Date of Renewal: 2015

Appendix 1

Definition of a complaint

A complaint is an expression of dissatisfaction about the standards of service, actions or lack of action, by Diplomacy Training Program or its staff, representatives and volunteers. It is a criticism or concern or grievance that expects a reply and would like things to be changed. Complaints could include the following (which is not an exhaustive list):

- Concern from someone we work with about the quality of program delivery
- Concern about the behaviour of staff, volunteers, trainers

A complaint is not:

- A general inquiry about Diplomacy Training Program's work
- A request for information
- A contractual dispute
- A request to amend records e.g. to correct an address, cancel a donation
- A request to unsubscribe from a Diplomacy Training Program service e.g. The DTP e-newsletter

The complaints procedures do not apply to complaints that are subject to current investigation by any regulatory body or other legal or official authorities in Australia or other countries in which we operate. Such issues will be dealt with under the relevant regulatory regime.
