During the program indigenous student protested on the decision of government to abolish quota of them. Because government is going to abolish quota to appointment into government job. Indigenous student urged to government to keep and maintain Adivasi quota into government job and higher education. Speakers said that, present situation is not the right time to abolish quota of indigenous peoples. To ensure sustainable development goals need to bring marginalized people into improvements. If someone is lagging behind that not ensure sustainable development for the country at all.

Government should take necessary action for marginalized communities. That is why should need to keep and maintain indigenous peoples quota to appointing into government service sector.
